

The F.I.N. System

Play any Chord on Demand

The purpose of the F.I.N. System is to give you the skill to play any chord on demand without ever having seen it on a chord chart. After mastering the System you may see F#7b9 written on a piece of sheet music and without hesitation play that chord in three different places on the guitar fretboard. With the F.I.N. System you can watch other guitarists, and identify instantly what chords they are playing. If you write music, you will be able to accurately transcribe chords and voicings that you create. Lastly, this system is designed to give you control of your guitar so you can experience the musical freedom that comes from being a player with a solid chordal foundation.

Introduction

F.I.N. stands for fretboard, intervals, and notes. When you know how these elements come together in the shaping of guitar chords, you will appear to have super powers when you jam with others.

Fretboard. Intervals. Notes. Any one of these topics by itself can overwhelm you with boring minutia. However, the F.I.N. System organizes this information and presents the most important stuff you need to know. Having fun playing the guitar and getting there as fast as possible is the goal of this system.

This presentation is designed to help guitarist of many different skill levels. If you already have some familiarity with the fretboard, intervals, and chords feel free to start where you like. Otherwise, you will benefit from the step-by-step description that will lead you to the ultimate goal of playing chords on demand.
